GUILTY VERDICT IN LIQUOR CASE

Charge of Selling Booze Against Thompson, However, Was Dropped.

SMITH ALSO IMPLICATED

Order of Court Comes as Surprise. Indictment Was Worded Wrong. Will Try Smith Next.

Although the Commonwealth was forced to drop the charge of selling liquor without a license against William Thompson, the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the first case of its kind against Thompson on the charge of transporting liquor illegally, at the opening session of the criminal court this morning. The verdict was reached after the jury had been out about an hour, Thursday evening.

The sudden conclusion of the latter charge came as a complete surprise to everyone in the court room at the time. The Court after hearing the evidence of both the Commonwealth and the defendant and after both the District Attorney and the counsel for Thompson had made their charge to the jury, the Court asked to see the indictment. After looking at the paper for a few minutes, he instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty under the indictment the way it read at that time. The reason he said for wishing to have the verdict returned as he instructed was that Thompson was indicted for illegally selling liquor without a license. This, the Court ruled was incorrect, in as much as under the existing laws of the United States, no man can sell liquor with a license.

But another charge awaited Thompson for the Grand Jury had also found a true bill against him for transporting liquor and just as soon as the jury was sworn in again, the Court took up this charge against him. The remainder of the day was spent in hearing the evidence of both sides and shortly before five o'clock, Thursday, the defense and the Commonwealth made their pleas to the jury. Following this the Court instructed the jury as to the point of law involved and asked them to return a sealed verdict. They were out about an hour and returned at 7 o'clock.

MAY DISPOSE OF POST PROPERTY

Members of Local Grand Army Post Discuss Disposition.

HELD ANNUAL BANQUET

Informal Discussion Would Turn Property Over to Adams County Commissioners And Sons of Veterans.

At an informal session of the members of the Corporal Skelly Post, 9, G. A. R., held Thursday afternoon in the local post rooms, East Middle street, following the annual banquet of the surviving members of the Civil War, the disposition of the local post property was the subject of discussion among the members. No formal action was taken, however, since the Post Commander, Dr. J. A. Clutz, advised the members that the meeting was purely a social one and that a subject such as was being discussed could only be concluded at a regular business meeting of the post.

A motion was made by Theodore McAllister, past adjutant, to the effect that the Adams County Commissioners be made a board of trustees of the post property but that the original rights of the local members should not be waived so long as they were able to keep an organization together. After the present members are unable to attend to the active management of the property and the organization falls away, it was the motion of Mr. McAllister, that the property rights be turned over to the Sons of Veterans as a lasting Memorial Hall. After the Sons of Veterans had taken over the property, it would be the duty of the County Commissioners to see that all the provisions and requests the post might make would be complied with.

The motion of Mr. McAllister was readily seconded and judging from the spirit of the members present, this was the proper way of preserving the post and its historical relics but the motion was not voted upon, heeding the advice of the post commander. Among the other members of the post who urged the passage of the motion of Mr. McAllister were James Bodley, superintendent of the National Cemetery, and Dr. T. C. Billheimer, post chaplain.

There were 44 members present out of a total of 54 at the banquet Thursday. The meal which consisted of raw and stewed oysters, turkey, mashed potatoes, sauer kraut, celery, ice cream, cake and coffee was served by the Woman's Relief Corps of the Post. The social session followed the dinner.

COAST-TO-COAST HIKERS

They have accepted lifts on the return trip.

DROVE MACHINE IN CODORUS CREEK

Gettysburg Young Man Has Narrow Escape From Drowning at York.

Russell Mathews, of Gettysburg, whose name was mentioned frequently in the trial of William Thompson Thursday in the Adams county court, drove his automobile into the Codorus creek at the foot of West Clark alley in York Thursday night at 10:20 o'clock, when he lost his bearings, according to a report from York.

The automobile turned over when it hit the water and Mathews had a narrow escape from drowning. He extricated himself, however, and is none the worse for his experience.

Mathews, together with Charles Naryon, also of Gettysburg, drove to York early Thursday evening. They parted upon their arrival in York and Mathews took the car to make a social call. When he returned he drove east on Clark alley and did not realize where he was going until he splashed into the creek.

The police were notified and they in turn secured Thomas Simmons, of the York Auto Wrecking company, and the automobile was dragged from the slimy Codorus. The machine was not any worse off than was Mathews and the two Gettysburg men returned to their homes early this morning.

Jealousy between the members of the camps, is believed by some, to be responsible for the fires.

BEST INSTITUTE IN YEARS CLOSES

Final Sessions of Sixty-Seventh Gathering Held at Noon.

HEARD ABLE INSTRUCTORS

Former Pastor Here Pleads For Aid For Near East Relief. Rev. C. Baker Delivers Chalk Talk.

The sessions of the sixty-seventh Adams County Teachers' Institute that came to a close at noon today were generally agreed to have been among the best ever presented to the public school educators of the county. A variety of subjects ably discussed during the five days have given the teachers new thoughts and an incentive to go back to their classes.

At the close of the instruction course this morning an election of officers for the Adams County Teachers' Association was held. Professor W. R. Diem, principal of the Arendtsville Vocational School, was named president; Miss Deardorff, of Biglerville, secretary, and Miss Helen Cope, Gettysburg, and Professor Roy Knouse, Littlestown, delegates to the conference that will be held in Altoona later.

The invocation this morning was pronounced by Rev. J. B. Baker, of the St. James Lutheran Church, and was followed by the usual song service, conducted by Ted R. Griffith, of Kingston.

Rev. F. E. Taylor, of Philadelphia, former pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, told of the work of the near east relief and made a plea for the teachers to aid in the efforts being made to save the starving children in that part of the world. He explained that as winter is approaching the death lists would soon start to grow. He declared there had been many deaths from starvation even during the harvest season this year. Besides hunger there are many dying from plagues, Mr. Taylor said, because of their weakened condition.

Dr. George H. Tapy, of Crawfordsville, Indiana, one of the leading speakers of the week, gave the final talk on the subject, "The Gospel of Work". Dr. Tapy discussed interest-

BIG ASSEMBLY OF FATHERS AND SONS

Dr. George H. Tapy Speaker at St. James Banquet Thursday Night.

Declaring that fights between boys or among nations can be settled by the boys and nations themselves without interference on the part of the parents or teachers, Dr. George H. Tapy, Institute instructor, urged the men present at the Father and Son banquet held in St. James Lutheran Church social room, Thursday evening, to allow their boys to join the gang. "When a bully appears on the playgrounds and picks on a number of the little fellows, these chaps through mutual sympathy band together and thrash the bully who assaulted them," said Mr. Tapy.

He is a firm believer that ownership of property is the sure cure for unrest and that if boys are given some property to call their own and over which they have full control, it will keep them from doing mischief to other property not their own. "This," Dr. Tapy emphatically said, "was the cause of the unrest in Russia." "The Bolsheviks have no property and in order to acquire some are using all kinds of unscrupulous methods."

Dr. Tapy's remarks followed a supper given by the Mite Society of the church to over 120 Fathers and Sons or their invited guests. The menu consisted of chicken, sauer kraut and mashed potatoes, celery, coffee, ice cream and cake.

Rev. J. B. Baker acted as toastmaster and called for short talks from a number of the men. Among those that delivered short talks about their boyhood days were Prof. H. Milton Roth, Charles Gardner, S. Miley Miller and E. P. Miller.

COURT CLOSES SHORT SESSION

Court Awards Damages to George Lynch Against J. Herman Bream.

The November term of Quarter Sessions and Common Pleas court came to a close this morning after a plea of 'nolle contendere' had been filed by the attorney for Ellis Smith, in connection with charges of bootlegging, and the Court had instructed a jury to render a verdict awarding George W. Lynch $1250 damages for failure of J. Herman Bream to fulfill his part of an agreement regarding the sale of certain cord wood. This was the only civil case heard at the November session and leaves a number of cases to be continued.

After the verdict of guilty against William Thompson had been read to the Court, a jury was empanelled to hear the case of Ellis Smith, who was also arrested with Thompson for being implicated in a bootlegging scheme last September. The plea of 'nolle contendere' was made by the attorney for Smith. This plea signifies that the defendant does not wish to contend the case. Smith will therefore come before the Court, on Saturday, along with Harold Uhler and William Thompson for sentence. There are also a number of cases continued until the January term on the criminal docket.

The case of Charles A. Keefer and Mamie C. Keefer, the parents of Harold W. Keefer, who was run down and received injuries from which he died from being struck by a touring car belonging to J. E. Weikert, last December, has been settled out of court to the satisfaction of both parties.

RAIDING AGENTS FIND MUCH BOOZE

Hotels in York and Wrightsville Relieved of Alcoholic Beverages.

JOINT NEAR YORK JAIL

Large Crowd Sees Liquor Taken By Federal Officers From Hotel in Nearby City.

Whiskey and other intoxicating liquors in abundance were confiscated by federal prohibition enforcement officers and state police, in two raids conducted on York and Wrightsville hotels Thursday night. One place, the Marshall house, situated well within the shadow of York county's temple of justice, has been under surveillance by federal authorities for several months and when the officers swooped down, Thursday night, they found evidence in addition to that already procured, to show that the illegal sale of liquor was being carried on there. The Wilson house, at Wrightsville, was also cleared of its intoxicants.

The first raid was made on the Wrightsville hostelry, the proprietor of which is Harvey S. Golden. Those in the party were Federal Prohibition Enforcement Officer Fred W. Kottcamp, State Troopers John Karbon, Howard Schooley, R. R. Liegman and William Davis, of Troop E, and Herb B. Kain and Constable E. H. Kinard. The party carried a search warrant issued by U. S. Commissioner McCall.

Find Whiskey on Tap

Snuggly hidden in a room, access to which could be gained from behind the bar only, was a barrel of whiskey on tap, containing twelve gallons, a number of whiskey glasses, and a quart bottle filled with liquor. The room was locked and it is evident that anyone to gain admission, must know the password before being admitted to the den. This whiskey, with several cases of pure rye whiskey found in different sections of the hotel, one case containing nine bottles of Lash Bitters, a ten-gallon keg partly filled with whiskey, and three quart bottles of Kentucky brand, were seized and brought to York. Hundreds choked the streets near the hotel, keeping Chief of Police Harris busy maintaining order.

Upon arrival in York the raiding party went to the Marshall house, John Wise, proprietor, and, armed with a search warrant, proceeded to uncover whiskey and wines in quantity.

TRUCK LINE HEARING

Dillsburg Solicitor Raises Question Before Commission.

The question of what effect a public service certificate might have upon the future of automobile truck lines in a community was raised Thursday before the Public Service Commission at Harrisburg by Borough Solicitor Logan, of Dillsburg, when the Gettysburg Transportation Company asked for a certificate.

The Dillsburg solicitor held that the granting of a certificate might prevent Dillsburg people from starting a similar service.

The Commission took the position it was concerned with the application pending and not with the possibility of future enterprises. Mr. Logan was interested in whether the certificate would be perpetual.

WANT FAIRNESS TO CHINA

Japan Taking to Framing Statement on Far Eastern Proposals. Have Communicated to Tokio.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Nov. 18.—With the arms conference in adjournment, the various national groupings further developed in consultation among themselves today the policy they will follow with respect to far eastern questions and the limitation of national armament. The British following the lead of the French let it be known that as a cardinal principle of their attitude toward the far eastern situation they stood ready to perpetuate the "open door" in China, give up extra territorial rights there as soon as China's development will warrant and in general aid the Chinese people to assume a place of economic influence in the world.

It was fully expected that Italy whose interest is more remote will take much the same position, the Japanese having already declared willingness to accept the Chinese declaration of principle as a basis of discussion were at work framing a more detailed statement of their position after communication with Tokio.

There were indications that extra territorial phases of the situation would occupy a prominent place in such a statement with Japan, taking position that powers cannot give up extra territorial rights until the Chinese court system has been substantially expanded and reconstructed. For the United States no one would speak authoritatively, officials only referring inquiries to records of this government's past attitude toward China. The particular in which the general principles are to be applied to the present situation probably will remain unrevealed until the negotiations have gone much further, although it is taken for granted that maintenance of the "open door" will remain a basis for consideration of any American plan of procedure.

Motors, leathers, tobaccos, sugars, textiles, chemicals and chain store issues were lowered by 1 to 2 points. Rails moved sluggishly, showing no material change. Call money opened and renewed into next week at 4½ per cent.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The armament conference was called by Chairman Hughes to meet at 11 a. m. next Monday for its third plenary session.

The prospect today was that neither committee dealing with naval armaments nor the far eastern problems would be ready to report.

TO RESUME TRADE WITH GERMANY

Diplomatic And Consular Staffs Appointed by State Department.

TEUTONS DELAY ACTION

Explain Appointment of Dresel. No Advice Regarding Envoy From Berlin Received in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—Complete diplomatic and consular staffs to represent the United States in Germany were named yesterday by the State Department.

Ellis Loring Dresel, American commissioner at Berlin, whose nomination to be Charge d'Affaires was sent to the Senate Wednesday by President Harding, has been instructed to request from the German Government provisional recognition as Charge d'Affaires ad interim, pending arrival of his letters of credence.

As soon as Dresel has been formally received as Charge d'Affaires ad interim, consular officers will proceed at once to their posts, it was announced. Recognition will be requested by Dresel for the following consuls:

William Coffin, Middleboro, Kentucky, Consul General at Berlin; William Dawson, St. Paul, at Leipzig; John E. Kehl, Cincinnati, at Breslau; Louis G. Dreyfus, Santa Barbara, California, at Dresden; Emil Sauer, Doss, Texas, at Cologne; Alfred W. Donegan, Mobile, at Konigsberg; Francis R. Stewart, Evansville, Indiana, at Bremen; Eugene C. A. Reed, Daytona, Florida, at Stettin; J. K. Huddle, Fort Recovery, Ohio, consul in charge temporarily at Hamburg; John Q. Wood, Burksport, Maine, consul in charge temporarily at Frankfurt; and George A. Bucklin, Norman, Oklahoma, Consul in charge temporarily at Coblenz.

Frederic R. Dolbeare, of Hartford, Connecticut, and Richard E. Penoyer, of Berkeley, California, are to be made first and second secretaries, respectively, of Dresel's staff. Preparations for a complete resumption of diplomatic relations with Germany are being made by the State Department.

In explaining the nomination of Ellis Loring Dresel to be Charge d'Affaires, it was said that that action was to regularize Mr. Dresel's taking over of America's interests at Berlin. Mr. Dresel has not been in the service of the State Department and has had no diplomatic status. In order to confer full authority on him to handle the affairs of State with the German Government it was thought best to have the Senate approve his appointment as Charge d'Affaires, thus making him a member of the American diplomatic corps. It was further explained that the appointment of an Ambassador to Germany would automatically remove Mr. Dresel from service in the State Department.

Regarding the reported sailing of a Charge d'Affaires from Berlin to install a German Embassy in Washington it was said that nothing further had been heard regarding Germany's plans. The German Embassy was not taken over by the United States during the war, being occupied by representatives of the Swiss Government, who administered Germany's affairs in this country during the war period. The Embassy building still is the property of the German Government, and it is expected that Berlin's diplomatic representatives will be housed there.

With the installation of Consular and Embassy staffs in Germany the United States will take over the administration of its affairs which was in the hands of representatives of the Spanish Government during the war. It was announced yesterday that the United States had officially thanked Spain for the efficient manner in which America's interests in Germany were conducted during the war period.

Germany to Respond Quickly

Berlin, Nov. 18.—Promotion of Ellis Loring Dresel to the rank of American Charge d'Affaires in Berlin will be answered by the German Government with the appointment of a Foreign Official of similar rank as Germany's temporary representative at Washington. Baron Edmund von Therman now is on his way to the United States, but he has merely been given instructions to prepare the premises of the former German Embassy there for official occupation.

LAYS NEW CHARGE AGAINST GARDNER

Notorious Mail Car Bandit Wanted For Criminal Assault, Too.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 18.—Roy Gardner, escaped mail robber, who was captured here Tuesday night, had a new charge made against him yesterday when Sheriff John Montgomery read a warrant to him accusing him of criminally assaulting Maria Munoz here on October 24. Gardner's only comment was "fair enough." The girl, according to the sheriff, positively identified Gardner as the man who attacked her.

Gardner was disarmed and captured by Herman F. Inderlied, a mail clerk, when he attempted to rob a mail car at Santa Fe Railroad Station here.

A continuous guard was maintained over the prisoner in the county jail to prevent him from making good his escape if he got the opportunity.

To Be Tried For Robbery

Washington, Nov. 18.—Roy Gardner, escaped mail bandit, who was captured Tuesday night in Phoenix, Arizona, while attempting to add another mail robbery to his string, will be brought to trial on the new charge as quickly as possible, instead of being returned to the penitentiary to complete a former sentence. This announcement was made yesterday by Department of Justice officials.

Dispatches from Phoenix Wednesday night said that Gardner would not be tried for his latest escapade, but would be sent to Leavenworth to serve out a sentence imposed for a previous robbery. Justice Department officials, however, explained yesterday that Gardner will be sent to Leavenworth only for safe keeping until his trial.

Under the law Gardner's conviction will be necessary before the reward of $5,000 for his capture can be paid to Herman F. Inderlied, the mail clerk who unarmed and single-handed took the robber in charge when he attempted the Phoenix hold-up.

MONT ALTO RESIDENT DEAD

Pneumonia Claims One of Town's Oldest Citizens.

Wilson Reynolds, one of the best known citizens of the Mont Alto section, died at 10:25 o'clock Thursday morning at his home in Mont Alto borough after an illness since Saturday last from pneumonia.

For many years he was the agent of the Cumberland Valley Railroad company at Mont Alto. He retired from this position about fifteen years ago and devoted the greater part of his time to growing pears and peaches, but gave up this work a few years ago and had since lived a retired life.

Soon after coming to Mont Alto he was married to Miss Clara Knepper, a sister of the late David Knepper. Mrs. Reynolds died some years ago. He is survived by the following children: George K. and Florence, at home; Lottie, a trained nurse now in the New Brighton hospital, New Brighton, Pa.

Funeral services will be Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the house. Interment will be in Green Hill cemetery, Waynesboro.

ROBBERS KILL WOMAN

Home of Aged Couple Entered. Bloodhounds at Work.

Greensburg, Pa., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Allen Braithwaite, aged 72, was killed and her aged husband was severely beaten by robbers who entered their farm home, two miles from here, yesterday.

Burke Francis, a neighbor, heard the screams of the aged couple and rushed to the scene, only to find the woman dead and the man unconscious. He reported the case immediately to the State Police here, and troops from the Greensburg barracks went to the farmhouse, accompanied by bloodhounds. The dogs picked up a trail near the farmhouse and followed it to a woods nearby. The troopers surrounded the woods in the belief that the robbers had taken refuge there.

WISH OF HARDING IS DISREGARDED

House Passes Tax Revision Bill With Senate Amendment.

MAXIMUM OF 50 PER CENT

Nearly a Hundred Republicans Revolt And Administrations Compromise is Defeated. President Wrote Letter.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Disregarding the expressed wish of President Harding, the House voted yesterday, 201 to 173, to accept the Senate amendment to the tax revision bill, fixing the maximum income surtax rate at 50 per cent on incomes of $200,000 or more.

Ninety-four Republicans, most of them from the Middle West and Far West, joined with the practically solid Democratic minority in supporting the amendment. Announcement of the result brought applause from both sides of the chamber with some of the Democrats breaking into cheers.

Three hours before the vote was taken the House listened to the reading of a letter from President Harding to Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee suggesting that the House and Senate compromise. The Executive said he still believed the original House rate of 32 per cent was "nearer to a just levy and the more promising one in returns to the public treasury," but that in view of the legislative situation he thought it "wholly desirable" that there be a compromise at 40 per cent.

Insurgent Prediction Verified

Immediately after it became known that the President had written, Mr. Fordney, spokesman for the "insurgent" Republicans, said the letter would not affect the result. They had claimed a total of 93 Republican votes, or one less than was cast for the amendment.

Among the majority members supporting the amendment were Chairman Campbell of the Rules Committee, Representative Green of Iowa, ranking Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, and Chairman Haughen of the Agriculture Committee.

Only three Democrats were recorded against the amendment. They were Campbell (of Pennsylvania), Deal and Hawes. There were 10 pairs.

Of the Maryland delegation Representatives Linthicum and Goldsborough, Democrats, voted for the amendment, and Blakeny, Hill and Mudd, Republicans, against it. Representative Zihman was not recorded as voting.

This vote settled the biggest issue between the House and Senate on the tax bill, and the conferees hope to dispose of other issues by Saturday night. If this hope is realized the measure will probably reach the President by the end of next week.

President's Letter

The letter written by President Harding to Chairman Fordney was in part as follows:

"My dear Mr. Fordney: In response to your inquiry as to the wisest course in dealing with the differences between the two houses of Congress in the matter of higher surtax on incomes: I can say only that, in view of our earlier conference on tax matters and the ultimate adoption of the higher surtax rate of 32 per cent, I still believe the rate approved by the House to be the nearer to a just levy and the more promising one in returns to the public treasury.

"The responsible administration is anxious, first of all, to lay the necessary taxes to meet the demands of the Treasury. There is a moral obligation, however, in the party in power to do everything possible to keep faith with promises made to the public."

Secretary Davis Scores Methods Of Warehousemen.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Eggs, Secretary of Labor Davis said yesterday, are "going sky high," and likewise turkey. These commodities, contrary to the general trend of foodstuff prices, are being boosted prior to holiday demands, Davis asserted, "by the cupidity and short-sightedness of the storage warehouse people."

"When the warehouse people get all the eggs gathered in, they jack up the price until nobody can buy but the rich," Secretary Davis declared. "Then, in the spring, they have nothing on their hands but cold storage eggs and are obliged to sell below cost."

"Commissioner of Labor Statistics Stewart tells me further that Thanksgiving turkey in Washington may go up to 79 cents a pound. I know for my part, if turkey goes to 79 cents, I'll eat corned beef and cabbage for my Thanksgiving dinner."

NOT ALL MINERS OUT ON STRIKE

Operators Say Walkout in Colorado Field Has Failed.

Denver, Col., Nov. 18.—Statements by officials of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and by mine union officers differed materially yesterday over the extent of a walkout of miners in Las Animas and Huerfano counties in protest against a 30 per cent wage reduction.

At the offices of the company there it was stated that many miners reported for work yesterday morning, but union officers maintained there had been a general response to the strike order.

Many Remain At Work

In Las Animas county the company reported a 50 per cent force was working, while in Huerfano county, where martial law is in effect, the number of men reporting at all mines was 25 per cent of normal, according to the company. A full force was at work in the Canon City district, which was not affected by the wage reduction. At Crested Butte, a sympathetic strike was in effect and company officials admitted only a few men were working. No wage reduction was effective at Crested Butte.

Union Claims Obedience

John P. McLennan, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, in a message from his headquarters in Trinidad, declared the miners generally had observed the strike order, according to reports he had received.

"They are all out except those who went into the mines yesterday to get their tools," he declared.

"There'll be a complete tie-up by today."

OXFORD SCOUTS LEAD

Hang Up More Points Than Other Conewago Troops.

The standing of the seven troops of the Conewago council of the Boy Scouts of America in the inter-troop advancement contest for the first month ending November 10, as announced by Scout Executive H. B. Rudisill, Hanover, shows that Troop 1, New Oxford, has hung up a score of 109 points for first place, being 59 points ahead of its nearest competitor. This means that the New Oxford troopers have put a strong grip on the award which is a trip to the nation's capital at the end of six months and that the name of their scout master, C. E. Tawney, will be engraved on the silver loving cup to be awarded the scout master whose name appears on it the most number of times during the six months of the contest.

Seized at Marshall House

The Marshall house has been closely watched for some time and the raid, timed right, disclosed a large quantity of intoxicating beverages in addition to whiskey. These were all seized and placed with the Wrightsville booze in a place of safe keeping.

One room in the Marshall house, the officers had been told, contained the whiskey. Here they uncovered six half-pint bottles of whiskey, a 15-gallon jug of sherry, three 2-gallon jugs partly filled with sherry and a glass container partly filled with whiskey. In the house and at the stable in the rear were found hundreds of whiskey bottles, carelessly strewn around, some half hidden, others plainly visible to a visitor.

The proprietors of both hotels will be brought before U. S. Commissioner McCall for hearing.

APOLOGIZES FOR SIGNS

Dickinson Athletic Association Not Responsible For Them.

In a communication to Doyle R. Leathers, graduate manager of athletics at Gettysburg College, from the Dickinson Athletic Association, the latter body apologizes for the signs along the Gettysburg road the day of the Gettysburg-Dickinson game. The letter, signed by C. W. Pretzmann, in part follows:

"Only from a paragraph in the Harrisburg paper did I learn that someone had painted signs on the Gettysburg Road which reflected on the Gettysburg team."

"At a meeting of the Athletic Association held last night a motion was passed instructing me to apologize through you to the College authorities for these signs which were the work of parties unknown to us and which do not in any way represent the sentiments of our association nor of the college body."

Penn Invites Centre College For Grid Contest.

Should Centre College accept the invitation of Penn to meet them next year on the gridiron, it will mean that the Gettysburg eleven will be dropped from the Red and Blue schedule, according to word given out by the athletic authorities at Penn, Wednesday. According to the information of the graduate manager of athletics, the "Praying Parsons" have been asked if they wanted a game with Penn, no date was set and the invitation was purely a formal one.

Either Delaware or Franklin and Marshall will be dropped from the schedule if Penn is to play Penn State and Centre it was also announced.

LAST HOME GAME

Gettysburg Meets Mt. St. Mary's Eleven Saturday.

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Gettysburg College will play the last home game of the football season on Nixon Field when the Orange and Blue team meets the Mt. St. Mary's team. This is the second home game of the season, the other being with Muhlenberg which Gettysburg lost 17-13. Mt. St. Mary's is said to have a fast team and a good game is looked for. Gettysburg closes its football season next Thursday when it meets Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster.

PLANK'S NAME MENTIONED

Eddie Plank, famous star hurler of the Athletics, is mentioned as a probable selection for president of the Blue Ridge League next summer by the Hagerstown Herald. Sentiment in that city is strong for a president outside the towns represented by the league. Under the present plans the leader of the organization would be paid a salary and the league placed on a different system of management. A number of suggestions have been made of men who would make executives for the league.

RATES ON FOOD CUT

Farm Products May Be Shipped Much Cheaper.

New York, Nov. 18.—An immediate reduction of 10 per cent in carload freight rates on farm products for a period of six months was agreed to by executives of the railroads of the United States.

In announcing this decision, Thomas De Witt Cuyler, president of the Association of Railway Executives, stated that any reductions in such rates made since September 1, 1920, were to be included in the 10 per cent and that it would be put into effect without waiting for a reduction in wages. The freight rate cut will apply throughout the entire country except on traffic moving wholly within New England.

The new rates are applicable to carloads of wheat, corn, oats, other grain, flour and meal, hay, straw and alfalfa, manufactured tobacco, cotton, cottonseed and products, except cottonseed oil and cottonseed meal; citrus fruits, other fresh fruits; potatoes, other fresh vegetables; dried fruits and vegetables; horses and mules, cattle and calves, sheep and goats, hogs, poultry, eggs, butter and cheese, and wool.

WILL VISIT FRANCE

Battlefield Commission to Select Places For Monuments.

The Pennsylvania Memorial Site Commission, appointed by Governor Sproul in accordance with an act of the last Legislature, will sail for France about May 1, to select and recommend suitable sites for markers, memorials and monuments to the Pennsylvania soldiers who fought overseas.

At a meeting of the commission, held in the Penn-Harris Wednesday evening, preliminary arrangements were made and it was decided to visit practically all of the positions occupied by the 28th Division, which was recruited from this State alone. As the 79th and 80th Divisions were mostly Pennsylvanians, the commission will devote considerable time to places where those divisions fought and will not overlook the places held by other divisions, who had a fair share of State soldiers.

Inquiries have been made by the commission to learn under what conditions France will allow land to be secured for placing the memorials.

WERE FEW HANGINGS

A. E. F. Colonel Says Tales of Executions Are Untrue.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 18.—Charges of unwarranted hangings of American soldiers overseas recently made in the United States Senate by Senator Watson, of Georgia, were denied here yesterday by Colonel William O. Gilbert, who had charge of death dismissal and penitentiary cases at A. E. F. headquarters at Chaumont, France.

"There is not one word of truth in the tales of these executions," Colonel Gilbert was quoted as saying. "If I remember rightly there were about ten men executed in France," adding that the death penalty was not inflicted except for murder and criminal assault. "If these brutal hangings of men without trial had occurred," he said, "rumors of them would have reached our office, even though we would have no official record of such things."

"Not one man was executed for military offenses. There was no man more careful to see that a soldier was not executed except on proof positive of his guilt than General Pershing. He took extreme care and personally went over every case, turning down a great many of them."

ACADEMY GOES OVER

School At New Bloomfield Changes Hands.

New Bloomfield, Pa., Nov. 18.—The Carson Long Institute at this place formerly the New Bloomfield Academy, which, since 1914, has been under the personal charge of Theodore K. Long was turned over by him to the board of trustees of the corporation that has been formed, it was learned today. The transfer marks the end of Mr. Long's personal ownership of the school.

In his communication to the board turning over the school property Mr. Long outlined the history of the institution from the time he took it over and placed it on a sound basis. Upon the completion of the improvements now underway, he said, he will have invested in its various properties slightly in excess of $80,000. He concluded with the statement that he believes "the school has now reached a point where it is able to care for itself and should be turned over to the board of trustees free of indebtedness and charges."

In addition to the old tract of land formerly occupied by the New Bloomfield Academy, the deed gives the corporation control of several additional tracts, the parade ground and campus, and the old Academy buildings. Also included in the sale is the personal property of the Carson Long Institute.

PAYS SIX-YEAR-OLD PENALTY

Doctor Who Shot Doe in Mistake Clears Conscience.

Clayton, N. J., Nov. 18.—Dr. D. F. Ogden, of this place, and a companion went to the deer woods six years ago. In mistake the doctor shot and killed a doe, but the carcass was carefully hidden and the secret was not revealed until a couple days ago when the doctor sent a check for $100 to the State Fish and Game Commission in payment of the fine for such an offense.

Dr. Ogden says the matter has preyed upon his mind all these years, and as each deer season rolled around he had a desire to go to the woods as he has done for many years, but there was not the same interest in such trips because of his mistake. It was purely a mistake, as there was no intent to break the law, he declares. He thought he had brought down a buck until told otherwise by his companion. Since the fine has been paid the physician feels that he can enjoy a few days this season in the deer woods.

POLICE TRAIL ASSAILANT

Shot in Shot by Man Expected to Recover.

Lewistown, Pa., Nov. 18.—Police on the trail of the unknown man who shot Dr. F. W. Black, chief surgeon of the Lewistown Hospital, in his office here early Tuesday, have located the store where he is believed to have bought his shoes, it was learned yesterday. If the shoe dealer can give the authorities a complete list of his customers, it will be the only clue the police have to work on, it was learned.

Footprints in the office of the surgeon were discovered and then photographed. The trademark was visible, and it was found that only one dealer in the town handled this make of shoe.

Doctor Will Recover
Dr. Black will probably recover, unless unforeseen complications set in. The gaping 38 caliber bullet wound through Dr. Black's chest was examined. The bullet after passing entirely through the chest grazed a settee and imbedded itself in the wall of the doctor's office where the shooting occurred.

There is a theory that the unknown intruder to the offices of the surgeon was first bent upon robbery, and that the burglar when he found himself trapped by the doctor, resorted to the use of a revolver to kill the surgeon.

REBUKED FOR LEVITY

Judge in Bluebeard Trial Warns Court Audience.

Versailles, Nov. 18.—The disappearance of Madame Benoit, the most prosperous of the eleven alleged victims of Henri Landru, reputed "bluebeard of Gambair," was taken up at the opening of the ninth day of his trial for murder in the Assizes court here, when Judge Gilbert resumed direct examination of the prisoner.

Mme. Benoit's fortune, according to charges of the prosecution amounted to about 18,000 francs, more than half the total that Landru is charged with having realized from the eleven murders for which he is on trial.

At the opening of yesterday's session, Judge Gilbert rebuked the levity which he said the French public had assumed toward the trial, and threatened to expell all spectators and hold closed sessions if they continued their attitude.

EXPLOSION KILLS 60

Heavy Damage To German Factory Reported.

Mayence, Nov. 18.—Twelve people have been killed and 60 injured in an explosion in a factory at Dotzheim, a short distance from Wiesbaden, Prussia. The damage to the factory is estimated 25,000,000 marks.

General Degoutte, commanding the French troops in that district, visited the injured, and his men assisted in the rescue work. Steps are being taken by the French to relieve the distress of the survivors.

Dotzheim is 40 miles north of Oppau, where an explosion in a plant of the Badische anilin concern on September 21, killed 1,000 persons, injured about 4,000 others, and laid in ruins the entire factory and the village of Oppau.

FERTILIZER FIGURES

Pennsylvania farmers used 332,926 tons of fertilizer in 1921, according to State Department of Agriculture figures. The tonnage does not equal the amount sold during the previous year as 345,582 tons were reported as being sold during 1919. A study of the detailed reports shows that, of the total tons disposed of, there were 3,362 tons of nitrogen as ammonia, 35,563 tons of phosphoric acid and 3,311 tons of potash sold and used during the year. These figures were arrived at by making use of the formulas and tonnage for each kind or grade of fertilizer.

Modern Cuba Wins Her "Place in the Sun."

WOOD'S FOLLY, NEAR SANTIAGO, CUBA—ROAD THOUGHT IMPOSSIBLE TO BUILD.

CRUSHING SUGAR CANE IN CUBA—CUBA HEADS THE WORLD IN THE PRODUCTION OF SUGAR.

By GARRET SMITH
Few Americans realize that down in the Gulf of Mexico at our very gateway there has grown up in the last twenty years on the basis of a mediaeval Spanish colony a modern American state that, although politically independent, thanks to us, is to all intents and purposes practically a part of the United States.

A realization of how little we know of this new land of Cuba was brought forcibly to public attention by the recent visit to this country of the Cuban Commercial Mission appointed by the President of Cuba to present Cuba's financial plight and to plead against the imposition of a 60 per cent increase in the tariff on Cuban sugar. This increase was enacted in the emergency tariff and is now making it difficult for Cuba to recover from the serious business and financial depression which afflicts the island.

In presenting Cuba's case to the Senate Finance Committee through the State Department the commission pointed out that the enactment of this 60 per cent increase in the permanent tariff bill would inflict upon Cuba a blow from which she could not recover in many years.

The average man has not realized the important part which this new member of free nations plays in the world's trade. Certain it is that the average man does not realize to what extent Cuba depends upon the United States, her foster-mother, for fair treatment in order that she may speedily recover her economic and political stability.

The man in the street still thinks of Cuba as a semi-barbarous land of insurrection, ignorance and poverty. This it was twenty years ago. When it was a country that sold us sugar and tobacco, but did most of its buying in Europe. The man in the street, while inordinately proud of the fact that the United States had a large part in freeing the island from Spanish oppression, does not at the same time realize our responsibility for keeping the island out of the same economic and political disturbances which Spanish misrule caused. Cubans know that Spain taxed Cuba to death and brought upon herself the train of misfortunes in the island which resulted in the loss of Cuban territory. The plea of the Cuban mission in Washington was in effect that we do not follow the unfortunate example of Spain and lose Cuban markets for our exports.

The change that has taken place in Cuba since Spain was driven out of the island has come quickly, but so gradually that few of us realize it. Probably few know, for instance, that Havana can be reached by train to Key West in forty hours from Washington and the remaining ninety miles covered by airplane in one and one-half hours.

Then there is a fast ferry service with daily sailings between Key West and Havana, carrying loaded freight cars and making the round trip in twenty-four hours. Steamship lines with almost daily sailings connect New York with every Cuban port. More merchandise enters and leaves Havana harbor every year than passes through any port of the United States excepting New York harbor.

No, Cuba is no longer isolated from us. Today she does about 75 per cent of her international business, both buying and selling, with the United States. The heavy sugar and other machinery formerly bought in England, France and Germany now comes from the United States, loaded on cars at the foundries in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Alabama, Louisiana and other states and delivered in the mill yards of Cuba without transfer or cost of handling. Cuba is now our fourth largest international customer. It is this rich trade, dependent as it is upon the prosperity of Cuba's chief industry, the raising of sugar, that is menaced by the 60 per cent increase in the tariff on Cuban sugar enacted by the emergency tariff act.

There is a slang phrase of the street that runs something like this, "The bigger they are, the harder they fall." This could be applied to the Cuban situation, with reference to our responsibility for her welfare. We have made Cuba big. We have helped her in her advance in civilization all along the line. As a result of the close trade and transportation relations between the United States and Cuba the human differences between us and our national fosterchild are fast disappearing. We have made her big, we have made her part of us, financially and industrially, and we should see that she does not fall, as she is quite likely to if we raise a permanent tariff barrier, which would have the effect of shutting out sugar, her chief product, from the United States, her chief market. For we must remember that it takes years to readjust the crops of a nation or to build up new markets for her exports. Cuba's present shaky financial condition would not stand the strain of such a period of readjustment.

English has become the language of the Cuban business community. Young Cubans are being educated in the schools and colleges of the United States. Education has replaced ignorance, orderly government has supplemented insurrection, sanitation has ousted dirt, prosperity has succeeded to poverty, and all of this is dependent on the prosperity of the sugar industry.

The development of education in the island is one of the most marked changes between the Cuba of today and that of two decades ago. In 1893 the population of the island was 1,572,791, of whom 1,400,884 were unable to read, 33,003 knew how to read, but could not write, while 19,158 had received some higher education. The change for the better began with American intervention when Alexis E. Frye was sent by this country to Havana to establish an American school system. With the installation of the Cuban republic in 1902 public instruction came directly under supervision of the federal government, and the secretary of public instruction was made a member of the President's cabinet. Today there are over 1,100 schools in Cuba with nearly 350,000 pupils. There are 5,685 teachers in the primary schools. There is a coeducational normal school in each of the island's five provinces and Havana has two additional normal schools, one for boys and one for girls. English is one of the chief subjects in all these schools.

Cuba's chief institutions of higher learning are the Institute of Havana, which occupies a place between the grammar school and the university, and the National University of Havana, founded in 1728 and now a big well equipped modern institution. In 1918 a school of Domestic Economy, Arts and Sciences, known as "The School of the Home," was established.

The American colonist or visitor also finds Cuba physically a most attractive spot. It is a land of picturesque mountains, beautiful valleys, fertile plains and plateaus all overgrown with luxuriant tropical verdure.

Its climate is free from extremes of temperature and other weather conditions which often make life in or near the tropics unpleasant to northerners.

And the man made environment of Cuba is equally delightful to the northern sojourner, particularly that of such modern cities as Havana. This city is one of the most delightful capitals in the western hemisphere. It is a city, modern in every respect that promotes comfort of living and up to date commercial activities, in a quaint, historic setting that dates back in part nearly 400 years. Havana today is a mixture of modern concrete and stone office buildings five or six stories high with little one roomed structures, some of them 300 years or more old. It is a clean, sanitary town, far different from the fever infested city the Americans found there two short decades ago.

The chief railroad systems of Cuba are the United Railways of Havana, the Cuba railroad, with its subsidiary, the Camaguey and Nuevitas railway, and the Cuba Northern railroad. They have an aggregate of about 2,200 miles of track.

Cuban mineral wealth is just at the beginning of its development. The early Spanish dreams of gold in Cuba have never been realized, but they are supplanted today by actuality in the shape of rich deposits of copper, iron, manganese and chrome. Asphalt and petroleum are also found in paying quantities, and in recent years numerous companies have been formed to develop these resources.

Cuba is also rich in timber. There are 367 varieties of valuable hard woods found in her forests. Of these only cedar and mahogany are imported to this country in any quantity. This natural resource has as yet been little exploited.

But in agriculture lies Cuba's wealth. Soil and climate combine to make her one of the most fertile bits of land on the globe. Sugar and tobacco, of course, are her principal crops, and in these the Cuban farmer has become a specialist. With an annual output of over 4,000,000 long tons of raw sugar she is far and away the greatest sugar producing country in the world. Her annual crop brings her in some $250,000,000 today, and upon the prosperity of this one industry depends largely the general prosperity of the Cuban people. It can easily be seen then how much importance is attached to the present visit of the Cuban mission and its effort to avert the enactment of a ruinous American tariff against sugar, inasmuch as Cuba depends upon the United States as a market for half of her enormous sugar crop. Over a billion dollars, more than half American capital, is invested in sugar production in Cuba.

Tobacco, her second largest crop, is worth over $50,000,000 a year to her. About three-fifths of this crop is exported, the greater part of it to the United States.

Two other agricultural products imported from Cuba to the United States in large quantities are pineapples and honey. Practically all of America's importations of pineapples, amounting to nearly $4,000,000 a year, are from Cuba. Our imports of honey from Cuba amount to well over $1,000,000 annually, or about half our total imports of that commodity.

Coffee is another large agricultural product of Cuba. Cubans are said to be the greatest coffee drinkers on earth.

Other considerable agricultural products are mangoes, citrons, fruits, bananas, grapes, cacao, vanilla, potatoes, tomatoes, eggplants, peppers, okra, squash, beans, corn, wheat, rice and peanuts. Stock raising, including horses, cattle, hogs, sheep and goats, is followed to a considerable extent. Poultry raising is also a rapidly growing industry.

When the American government was established at Santiago in 1898 one of its first acts was to begin the stabilization of Cuban currency. This reform was completed by the Cuban Congress under the law of October 29, 1914, by which the Cuban gold peso, of weight and fineness similar to the American dollar, was declared the unit and United States money legal tender.

In view of this close harmony of interests the visiting commission from this new Cuba holds that the erection of greater tariff walls between the two countries is illogical and harmful to the best interests of both.

REVOKE LEASE FOR CAMP IN MOUNTAIN

Deer Hunter's Lodge Said to be Menace to Water Supply.

The camp site lease granted Clarence E. Kohler, of Spring Grove, by the State Forestry Department, giving Kohler the right to construct a permanent hunting camp near the intake of the Chambersburg Water Company at Caledonia, has been revoked on the ground that it is undesirable from the standpoint of public health. Chambersburg authorities had objected to the granting of the lease. Commissioner of Forestry Gifford Pinchot Thursday notified Edmund C. Winger, borough solicitor, of this action and sent Kohler notice at his home at Spring Grove. In his letter to Solicitor Winger, Commissioner Pinchot advised that the Department of Health, after inquiry, considered the camp a possible menace to the water supply of Chambersburg. In his letter to Mr. Pinchot Commissioner of Health Martin wrote:

"Theoretically, such a camp could be conducted without seriously endangering the purity of the water. Practically, the placing of this camp is undesirable from the standpoint of public health." In the communication the Commissioner of Health asked that the permit for the building of the camp be revoked.

The matter had created wide discussion here inasmuch as the water supply at Birch Run had been under fire for a period of months, because the Health Department had ordered the water chemically treated to guarantee its purity for drinking purposes.

ACCUSED OF FIRING A CAT

Four Men Said to Have Made Living Torch With Gasoline.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 18.—Accused of spraying a pet Maltese Tom cat with gasoline from a blow torch, then igniting the animal, Ray Rask, chief of police of Westview Park; H. B. King, wealthy garage owner at Westview, and two of his employees were made defendants in suits yesterday morning by Humane Officers Buch and Ferguson. The informations were filed under Alderman Young, of Wood's Run.

The cat, a pet of Mrs. Anna Dalzell, who lives near the garage, was almost burned to death. As it lay on the rear porch of the Dalzell home, a bullet from the revolver of Chief of Police Quigley, of Westview, put an end to its sufferings.

All the men are charged with cruelty to animals. According to officers, the cat was taken into the garage and, after its fur had been drenched with gasoline a match was applied. With wild shrieks the animal ran from the garage, a living torch. Dashing to the rear porch, the cat leaped against a bed sheet on a wash line, which caught fire. Members of the household extinguished the fire before it ignited the porch.

LIKED THE JAIL TOO WELL

Lodger Who Refused to Leave Is Sent to Less Attractive One.

Greensburg, Pa., Nov. 18.—Because Charles Larson was in love with his free quarters in the borough jail and refused to leave them yesterday morning, he was arrested and sentenced to a harder couch in the county jail for five days. Larson and five other down-and-outers were enjoying the lodgers' room in the local jail when his term of three days expired. Yesterday morning, when the police ordered him to leave the building, he refused, declaring that he was perfectly satisfied with the accommodations and intended to remain. The police placed Larson under arrest and he was sent to where the food and lodging never have been sought by any person in the memory of the oldest inhabitant here. Larson's companions also were loath to leave, but, upon being informed of his fate, quickly departed.

BIG CROOKS IN ROUND-UP

Montreal Scoops in Several Men Wanted in United States.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—Thirty men, among whom the police declared they recognized several notorious international criminals, were arrested here yesterday in a series of raids on underworld resorts.

Nathan Katz, alias "The Turk," said to be a pickpocket with records on both sides of the Atlantic, was in the roundup. William W. Dodson, also known as "Washington Bill," wanted by Boston authorities, and Joe Corey, wanted in Providence, R. I., were among Americans who fell into the net.

"What kind of climate will we find on this island?" the shipwrecked dandy wanted to know. "Hot, sultry, stifling, no wind, no rain, no snow," the captain predicted gloomily. "And I haven't even brought my furs!" lamented the modern maid.

FOUR HUNTERS USE ONE LICENSE

Game Protectors Find Law Violators. Deer Being Killed Illegally.

Hunter's privileges are so much in demand that State game protectors have arrested three and four men hunting on a single license. Two such instances have come to light in reports sent to the State Game Commission from districts, and orders have been given to push the cases. In one instance a game protector came upon a party about 20 miles from Harrisburg and found the man with the gun had just been "holding" it and while the conversation with the officer was in progress a man joined the group wearing the license for which the receipt had been issued on the back of his coat. A fourth in the party had nothing. All four were arrested.

Game protectors have reported considerable trouble because of hunters going out for a day's sport without licenses. The number of women hunting is said to be unusually large.

"Entirely too many carcasses of deer are being found in the woods in advance of the season," said Seth E. Gordon, secretary of the State Game Commission. "This is most regrettable, because we have had reports of successful distribution and propagation of deer. Apparently people have not been looking long enough before shooting or else have been disregarding the law. We are investigating these cases and will push prosecutions if we get the evidence. A number of sportsmen have come to us with offers of assistance in running down the illegal hunters. Some of the deer killed have been big does, which is doubly against the law."

DOUBLES HIGHWAY BUILDING RECORD

State Has Constructed 650 Miles This Year. Leads The Nation.

The State Highway Department today announced that construction of durable highways in Pennsylvania during the present season passed the 650-mile mark this week. This mark is 300 miles beyond that reached by any State Highway department in the United States during one year for this type of pavement.

The Department's maintenance forces this year up until the first week in November had put down 214.95 miles of waterbound macadam and 297.04 miles of unbound macadam. During the 1921 season the Department's maintenance forces have surface treated with oils and bituminous materials 1796 1/2 miles of roadway.

In 1919 the maintenance of the Department put down a total of 286.8 miles of waterbound and unbound macadam; in 1920, 320.36 miles of waterbound and unbound macadam. The oiling total for 1919 was 1621 miles; for 1920, 1403 miles.

At the present time in Pennsylvania the modern-type roadways approximate 1880 miles and the other hard-surfaced roads, 3107 miles, these including State Highways and State-aid Highways.

SCORE ONE FOR TENANT

Landlord Fined and Sent to Jail for Lease Violation.

New York, Nov. 18.—Samuel Joseph, scro, landlord, was sentenced by the Court of Special Sessions yesterday to pay a $250 fine and spend 30 days in the workhouse for failure to supply hot water to a tenant. The tenant, Benjamin Sheinman, testified Joseph had cut off the hot water in an effort to compel him to vacate his apartment.

Damages of $15,000, or $5,000 more than she asked for, were awarded by a jury in Supreme Court yesterday to Mrs. Sarah Weinstein, a widow, who sued her landlord for injuries received in falling downstairs. The verdict established a precedent. Under the law, Justice Ford may reduce the amount of damages if he believes them excessive.

DUCHESS PICKS POTATOES

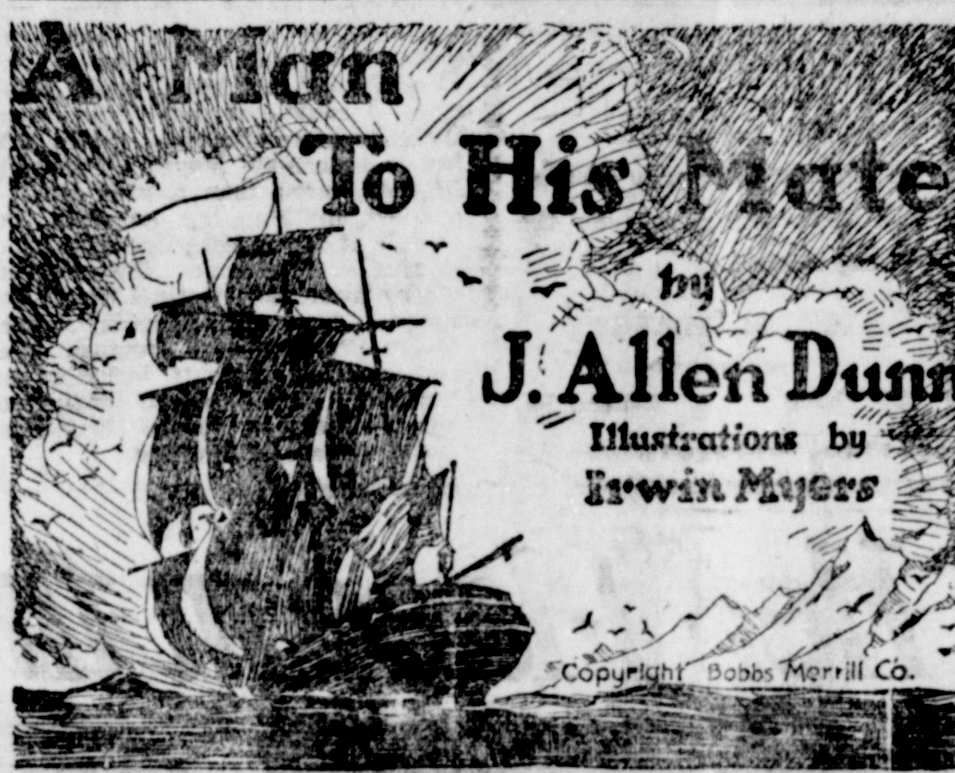

Gladys Deacon Helps to Operate Her Royal Husband's Estate.

London, Nov. 18.—The Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Gladys Deacon, of Boston, is entering with zest into the working of the Duke's Blenheim estates and is looking after the welfare of tenants and workers there.

The Duchess was recently seen taking her place with the potato pickers. She worked with them for an hour.

A war with Japan would be unpopular because we can't pronounce the names of its generals.

HATCHING EGGS UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Her eyes flashed and then she made a visible effort to control herself. "But it was very brave of you, and I really to ask your pardon," she concluded, with the crimson of her cheeks flooding all her face before she turned away, and made abruptly for the companion.

A little bewildered, the touch of her slim but strong fingers still sensible to his own, Rainey went to the wheel. "Shall I take it over, Mr. Carlsen?" he asked. "It's my watch." Carlsen surveyed him coolly. Either he pretended not to have heard the girl's innuendo or it failed to get under his skin. "You'd better get into some dry togs, Rainey," he said. "And I'll prescribe a stiff forum or croquet. Take your time about it." Rainey, conscious of a wretched feeling in his side, a growing nausea and weakness, thanked him and took the advice. Half an hour later, save for a general soreness, he felt too vigorous to stay below, and went on deck again. Sandy had been taken forward. Lund had disappeared, but he found the giant in the triangular forecastle by Sandy's bunk.

"That you, Rainey?" Lund asked as he heard the other's tread. Then he dropped his voice to a whisper: "The lad's grateful. Make the most of it. If he wants to spill anything, get all of it. Best day's work you've done in a long while, matey. Pump that Sandy. Pump him dry. He'll know almost as much as Tamada, and he'll come through with it easier."

"Just what are you afraid of?" asked Rainey. "Sen," said Lund, simply. "I'm afraid of nothing. But they're primed for something, under Carlsen. We'll be makin' Unalaska tomorrow or the next day. Here's hopin' it's the next. An' we've got to know what to expect. Here's something for you to chew on: Inside of forty-eight hours there's goin' to be an upset aboard this hooker an' it's up to me an' you to see we come out on top. If not—"

He spread out his arms with the great, gorilla-like hands at the end of them, in a gesture that supplanted words. Beyond any doubt Lund expected trouble. And Rainey, for the first time, began to sense it as something approaching, sinister, almost tangible.

As he crossed the main cabin to go to his own room, Carlsen came out of the skipper's. He did not see Rainey at first and was humming a little air under his breath as he slipped a small article into his pocket. His face held a secret. Then he saw Rainey, and it changed to a mask that revealed nothing. His tune stopped. "I hear the captain's sick again," said Rainey. "Not serious, I hope." Carlsen stood there gazing at him with his look of a sphinx, his eyes half-closed, the scolding light showing faintly.

With Hansen on deck they all assembled at the table with the exception of the captain. Tamada served perfectly and silently. The doctor conversed with the girl in a low voice. Once or twice she smiled across the table at Rainey in friendly fashion. "Skipper any better?" asked Lund, at the end of the meal.

Carlsen ignored him, but the girl answered: "I am afraid not." It was not often she spoke to Lund at all, and Rainey wondered if she had experienced any change of feeling toward the giant as well as himself.

Carlsen got up, announcing his intention of going forward. Lund nodded significantly at Rainey as if to suggest that the doctor was going to foregather with the hunters, and that this might be an opportunity to talk with Sandy.

"Goin' to turn in," he said. "Eyes hurt me. It's the ice in the wind." Carlsen had already vanished and the girl went to her room.

The door from the galley corridor opened, and a head was poked in cautiously. Then Sandy came into the cabin.

"Beg pardon, Mister Rainey, sir," said the roystabout. "I was through with the dishes. I wanted to have a talk with yer." His pop-eyes roamed about the cabin doubtfully. "Come in here," said Rainey, and ushered Sandy into his own quarters. "Now, then," he said, established on the bunk, while Sandy stood by the partition, slouching, irresolute, his slack jaw working as if he was chewing something, "what is it, my lad?" "They'd kick the stuffin' out of me if they knew this," said Sandy. "I've bin warned to hold my tongue. Deming said he'd cut it out if I chattered. An' he would. Sit down, Sandy; I won't give you away."

"You went overboard after me, sir. None of them would. I've heard what Mr. Carlsen said, that I didn't amount to nothin'." Melba I don't, but I've got my own reasons for hangin' on. Me, of course I don't amount to much. Why would I? If I ever had mother an' father, I never laid eyes on 'em. I've made my own livin' since I was eight. I've never laid enough grub in my belly till I worked for Tamada. The Jap slips me prime fillin'. He's only a Jap, but he's got more heart than the rest o' that bloody bunch put together."

HIS LETTERS WIN HER A DIVORCE

Hubby Says He Was Stewed Every Night. Pays Costs And Alimony.

New York, Nov. 18.—Two breezy letters he is alleged to have written to his wife, cost Stan Stanley, vaudeville actor, $500 down Wednesday and $100 a week for some time to come, Supreme Court Justice Mullan having ordered him to pay her alimony and counsel fees pending the outcome of her suit for separation.

The letters formed one of Mrs. Stanley's chief exhibits.

"I'm no angel," her husband is alleged to have written in one of them, "and if you can get any one better than me, go to it."

The other letter, constructed along the lines of a free verse poem, read as follows:

Dear May:

Since you double-crossed me, why I've been living.

Stewed every night.

Wow!

I'm cock-eyed now, and I'm going to stay that way until I die.

You were wrong with me and now I've found it out and it hurts.

I love you and only you. If anything else occupies my attention it's because you did not fight for what belongs to you.

Kiss the babies for me.

You double-crossed me and trifled before I did.

If you didn't, and you're on the level, let me see you.

If you need dough, you've got a pen.

Show me.

Yours, as ever, but must be shown.

STAN.

Regarding fighting, Mrs. Stanley charges, her husband broke her nose in Atlantic City and knocked her unconscious in a music hall at Coney Island. They were married in 1910 and have two children, Rita Florence, six and Stan Stanley, Jr., two.

WHISKEY GLASS IN CRASH SUIT

Booze Enters Into Case Against City of Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Nov. 18.—After William Hoffman, had testified how much liquor had been consumed by Boyd Gower on May 7, 1919, before Gower's automobile crashed into a tree near Thirteenth and Derry streets, he produced the glass from which it had been drained. Gower is suing the city for damages, charging a hole in the pavement was the cause of the accident. Hoffman was a witness for Gower and declared two small glasses of whisky had been drained just before the crash and added it was good Highspire because he always bought the best.

two small glasses?" asked William M. Hain, counsel for Gower.

City Solicitor Geyer objected to the question on the ground that Hoffman already had said positively, "two small glasses."

Jury Gets the Glass

"Well, here's the glass," said Hoffman as he produced a whisky glass and set it on the witness stand.

"Let it be marked as one of the exhibits," said Judge Wickersham.

"But we haven't offered it in evidence," protested Hain.

"But your witness has and you are bound by it," returned the Judge, who added that the jury will take the glass along to the jury room when it retires to deliberate.

Susie C. Alden, Third ward, Stegton, is foreman of the jury and as such will take charge of the glass at the proper time.

"But I want that glass back," demanded Hoffman.

"The jury wants it first; then line sold for export or for interstate commerce, and on the solvent naphthas sold for use in manufacture of paints, oil cloth, etc.

It is said there is a prospect that the State may recede from its position taxing the gasoline sold for the export trade, while the position in regard to the naphthas and similar substances used in manufacturing will be further studied.

The tax has proved high productive and it is believed will run close to $2,500,000 a year, half of which will be retained by the State, the rest going to the counties according to the tax originating.

PASTY-FACED MAN HAS POOR BLOOD

Needs Pepto-Mangan to Make New, Rich, Red Blood.

The man whose complexion is pasty has impure blood. His health is not robust and the sickly pallor on his face shows it. He acts and looks and feels exhausted most of the time. Everybody he meets notices it.

When a pasty-faced man takes Gude's Pepto-Mangan for a while, he builds up his blood. It drives out the impurities and makes new, rich, red blood. When the new healthy blood gets to work, his complexion clears up, his eyes brighten and he looks alive and robust instead of droopy and sickly. He begins to like the food that is set before him at each meal. He feels like a new man.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan makes red corpses by supplying iron and other ingredients that thin-blooded people need. Drug stores have it in liquid or tablet form. The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on each package.

his arrest on the evening of September 19, by members of the local state police station, when he was seen by one of the State troopers selling something to Russell Mathews in Race Horse Alley behind the Hotel Gettysburg, near the livery stables of Philip Hoffman. At the time of his arrest he had with him in an automobile, Ellis Smith, who was also arrested. He was charged at the preliminary hearing with selling liquor without a license and with transporting it illegally. Thompson had been arrested about a year previous to this arrest on a charge of stealing $1,600 from a man in Pittsburgh where Thompson is said to have hailed from before coming to Gettysburg. This charge was never pressed for at the time, it was intimated that the money had been given him to buy liquor and that those interested did not wish this to be made public.

Stuff is Powerful

The fluid which Thompson is said to have sold and a sample of which was presented to the Court as evidence is the familiar 'home brew' manufacture and said to be of the variety commonly known as 'white lightning'. From the evidence of Ellis Smith, this stuff is the product of a local Adams county still said to have been operating between Hunterstown and New Chester. The stuff has never been analyzed as to its alcoholic content but judging from the odor of the compound, those who smelled say, it is a mixture of benzine and banner lye.

May Press Charges

The Commonwealth is not through with Thompson regardless of the verdict the jury returns. If the jury is for acquittal, the Commonwealth may re-arrest Thompson on the charge of illegally selling liquor. The case against Ellis Smith which is similar to the Thompson case will be heard next, according to the District Attorney.

SKIDDING CARS COLLIDE

Blame Slippery Road For Wreck Near Abbottstown.

A slight accident occurred about two and a half miles east of Abbottstown Wednesday evening about 8:30 o'clock, when a coupe driven by a Philadelphian, collided with a touring car of Emory Bortner, of York. The identity of the Philadelphian could not be learned. Bortner was at the time accompanied by Miss Lydia Patterson, also of York. The accident was due to the slippery condition of the road caused by the rain. The Yorkers were on their way to Abbottstown, when the other machine approached. In turning out of the way the Philadelphian machine skidded and the two cars collided. Bortner's machine was badly damaged, but the other only slightly, the rear left wheel being torn off. Craumer's garage, Abbottstown, was called and a new wheel taken to the scene and the machine fixed. No one was injured.

TRAGEDY OF TWINS

Drew Lots To Determine Which Should Die.

Geneva, Nov. 18—The love tragedy of twin sisters who drew lots for death by poison became known recently in the Innsbruck courts when one of them was tried for murder. She was acquitted after she told her story.

The twins, daughters of a farmer named Goldheim, fell in love with a former Hungarian officer, who was unable to distinguish the girls, and courted both, thinking he was always with the same sister. The officer, when he realized the situation, asked the girls to decide which should marry him.

They solved the problem by preparing a glass of water and a glass of poison. They drew lots and the loser drank and died. When the surviving sister was arrested the officer disappeared.

WAGE CUT FOR MINERS

Denver, Col., Nov. 18—Notice of a general wage reduction of approximately 30 per cent to take effect this morning in thirteen of the company's twenty six coal mines in Colorado, was posted at headquarters of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company here yesterday morning. The reduction directly affects about 3,500 men employed in mines.

According to a statement by Fred Farrar, general counsel for the company, officials expect a strike that will close temporarily, all the mines affected that are now in operation. It is also expected men employed in various other mines of the company will walk out.

SHIRTS OF LASTING QUALITY

The lasting quality doesn't simply mean that it will take a long time to wear out, the good appearance will last too.

They are woven and corded Madras shirts and the rich effect of the material or the tone of the coloring will not wear off or wash away with frequent laundering.

At the price they are great values.
